

NDIA INDIVIDUAL VS CORPORATE MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

NDIA offers corporate and individual membership.

CORPORATE MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

Corporate dues are based on the organization's annual US defense revenue. For a company with defense revenue of $2.5 million or less, dues are $500 a year, or $1200 for a 3-year membership (20% discount). NDIA offers 20% discounted membership packages to organizations with defense revenues of $10 million or less. For defense revenues above $2.5 million, companies can use our online dues calculator at NDIA.org/Dues.

Corporate membership extends complimentary individual member benefits for all company employees. Each employee on the company roster receives all the benefits of individual membership as listed. Companies receive:

Discounts: Receive discounts when exhibiting at NDIA Trade Shows from $500 to $1000 per 10x10 booth, as well as when posting jobs at NDIA's Career Center.

Access: Prioritized access to NDIA's Strategy & Policy Team. Engagement allows members to identify the challenges of existing and proposed policies and legislation, and shape NDIA's educational efforts to mitigate negative impacts across the entire defense industrial base

Events: Invitations to member-only policy events with senior leaders and policy makers. Adding your NAICS codes to your corporate member account helps us identify opportunities best suited to your operational areas

Agenda: The opportunity to help shape NDIA's policy agenda. Corporate members benefit from NDIA's initiatives on issues that impact companies of all sizes and sectors across the defense industrial base. Corporate members can set-up calls and meetings to discuss a broad range of issues including budget legislation, intellectual property, resourcing and acquisition reform. Add your voice to the more than 1,600 member companies who provide the foundation for NDIA to support a strong, resilient defense industrial base that delivers our warfighters competitive advantage across the spectrum of conflict

ETI: The opportunity to engage and partner with NDIA's Emerging Technologies Institute (ETI)

Free advertising: corporate members get a complimentary enhanced listing in the online Mega Directory, listing their capabilities and contact information

News: Employees of corporate members receive a subscription to the corporate member only e-newsletter Policy Weekly Digest

Join in: Employees also have the opportunity to participate in Division Committees and Working Groups. These are comprised of volunteers representing their organizations and industries, Committees and Working groups focus on scientific, technical, policy, and management challenges within the national security enterprise

For a more in-depth look at corporate membership benefits, attend one of our Member Value webinars, or contact us at membership@NDIA.org to schedule a quick call with the Membership Team. You may view the latest Member Value brief here: YouTube.com/watch?v=95CEFclPTtE

INDIVIDUAL MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

Memberships are $40 for 1 year, $115 for 3 years, and $190 for 5 years. Benefits include:

Rates: Discounted member rates for most conferences. Members receive a discount that varies from $50-125, depending on the event, when attending NDIA and affiliates events.

Access: Access to free Member-Only Webinars on topics of interest to the Defense Industrial Base (DIB)

NDIA Connect: Access to NDIA Connect, an online community providing broad resources for defense professionals. NDIA Connect's platform offers general and specialized communities, discussion threads, document libraries, and collaboration tools

National Defense: A complimentary subscription to the monthly National Defense magazine, and the e-newsletters Defense Watch and Weekly Insider

Chapters: Complimentary membership in local chapters for networking, business development, and defense-focused events

Mega-Directory: Access to the annual Mega Directory, a trusted reference of corporate capabilities and the defense acquisition community, a fully searchable online source

Savings: Savings at all North American locations of National and Enterprise-Rent-A-Car

Financial benefits: Global access to financial services from member-owned Pentagon Federal Credit Union.

Updates: Real-time updates through social media, plus podcasts of selected articles when subscribed to the NDIA Today YouTube Channel.

JOIN ONLINE TODAY AT NDIA.ORG/JOIN