WHO WE ARE

The National Defense Industrial Association is the trusted leader in defense and national security associations. As a 501(c)(3) corporate and individual membership association, NDIA engages thoughtful and innovative leaders to exchange ideas, information, and capabilities that lead to the development of the best policies, practices, products, and technologies to ensure the safety and security of our nation. NDIA's membership embodies the full spectrum of corporate, government, academic, and individual stakeholders who form a vigorous, responsive, and collaborative community in support of defense and national security. NDIA is proud to celebrate 100 years in support of our warfighters and national security. The technology used by today's modern warfighter was unimaginable 100 years ago. In 1919, BG Benedict Crowell's vision of a collaborative team working at the intersection of science, industry, government and defense began what was to become the National Defense Industrial Association. For the past century, NDIA and its predecessor organizations have been at the heart of the mission by dedicating their time, expertise, and energy to ensuring our warfighters have the best training, equipment, and support. Vice Chair

WHO WE ARE

The Integrated Program Management Division (IPMD) promotes a strong industry—government working relationship to address disciplined program performance management methodologies for planning and executing programs to optimize outcomes. Disciplined program performance management methodologies include earned value management. The IPMD initiates and leads program management improvement initiatives with the DoD and other federal agencies for the mutual benefit of the industrial base and the government to understand and adapt to changes in the procurement environment.

OUR OBJECTIVE

Provide thought leadership in Integrated Program Management (IPM). The Division achieves this objective by conducting forums and meetings to advance IPM practices as well as providing and publishing industry perspectives on IPM topics. As the author and steward of the EIA748 Standard for Earned Value Management Systems (EVMS), the Division also creates and maintains industry standards and guides.

Collaborate with key stakeholders. The Division proactively engages and participates with government, industry executive leadership, industry groups, academia, and other entities to foster the advancement of IPM.

DIVISION AND EVENT PARTICIPATION

Opportunities to interact with government policymakers to gain a better understanding of their mission and comment on proposed regulatory changes. You gain first-hand information on current topics such as impending policy, leadership, regulatory, or process changes that can affect programs.

Broaden your professional network by working with industry leaders, organization leaders from a variety of sectors such as civilian agencies and DoD services, as well as other related program management disciplines such as systems engineering.

Meet and seek advice from experts or share program management best practices with industry and government counterparts.

Contribute to industry guides, white papers, and working groups. IPMD working groups are the best way for to you to get involved and gain the most from IPMD meetings. Formed and disbanded as needed, the working groups proactively address current issues.

NDIA has a policy of strict compliance with federal and state antitrust laws. The antitrust laws prohibit competitors from engaging in actions that could result in an unreasonable restraint of trade. Consequently, NDIA members must avoid discussing certain topics when they are together at formal association membership, board, committee, and other meetings and in informal contacts with other industry members: prices, fees, rates, profit margins, or other terms or conditions of sale (including allowances, credit terms, and warranties); allocation of markets or customers or division of territories; or refusals to deal with or boycotts of suppliers, customers or other third parties, or topics that may lead participants not to deal with a particular supplier, customer or third party.

2020 WINTER IPM DIVISION MEETING

The Integrated Program Management Division (IPMD) is the primary forum for exchanging views and information to promote and communicate integrated program management best practices. The IPMD actively works to foster a mutual understanding and effective working relationships between Industry and Government regarding the development, documentation, and maintenance of effective integrated program management processes.

Join us in the Winter to interact with government policymakers, broaden your professional network with industry leaders, and contribute to industry guides, white papers, and working groups!
