MEMORANDUM FOR RECORD

SUBJECT: 2020 Pacific Operational Science and Technology (POST) Conference Sponsorship

1. U.S. Indo-Pacific Command (USINDOPACOM) and National Defense Industrial Association (NDIA) are co-sponsoring the 2020 Pacific Operational Science and Technology (POST) Conference from March 9-13, 2020 at the Hilton Hawaiian Village and the Kaneohe Bay Theater, Marine Corps Base Hawaii.
2. Science and Technology (S&T) is a critical enabler for improving operational effectiveness and efficiencies in a vast, diverse, and complex area of responsibility. USINDOPACOM's S&T program has also been an increasingly effective arm for conducting engagements and building capacity with our partner nations within the region. This year, the conference will focus on Forward Together – Strengthening Partnership, Presence, and Military Readiness. I strongly encourage USINDOPACOM staff, components, and task forces to participate in this event to collaborate, share ideas, discuss operational requirements, and assist the S&T community leveraging technology to solve critical capability gaps.
3. The point of contact is Dr. Martin Lindsey, USINDOPACOM Science and Technology Advisor, at martin.lindsey@navy.mil or (808) 477-8041.
